8. TERMINATION OF EMPLOYMENT BY EMPLOYER

Notwithstanding anything herein contained to the contrary, this Agreement may be terminated in the following manner:

- a) Termination for Cause

The Employer shall be entitled to terminate this Agreement at any time for just cause, in which case the Employee will receive only those minimal entitlements strictly required by the Employment Standards Act, 2000 as amended from time to time, or applicable successor legislation (the "ESA"), if any. The parties agree that unless otherwise required by the ESA, just cause shall include the wilful refusal or failure of the Employee to perform the duties and responsibilities established under this Agreement, or any other cause deemed sufficient in law or in any other circumstances in which no notice or payment in lieu thereof is required by law.

- b) Termination on Notice

- (i) The Employer shall be entitled to terminate this Agreement at any other time without just cause by providing the Employee with twelve (12) months' notice or base salary and incentive compensation (if any) in lieu of notice, plus an additional one month's notice or base salary and incentive compensation in lieu of notice for each year of completed service with the Employer from September 22, 2014 to a total maximum of eighteen (18) months' notice or base salary and incentive compensation (if any) in lieu of notice (the "Notice Period"). Incentive compensation (if any) in lieu of notice shall be determined with respect to the prior year's incentive compensation, if any. The payments under this section shall be paid by way of a compensation continuance with all applicable deductions and withholdings, including those set out in section 8(b)(ii) of this Agreement, except that any severance pay required by the ESA (which entitlement, if applicable, is included in the Notice Period) will be provided to the Executive in a lump sum, less applicable deductions.

- (ii) In addition to the foregoing, the Employer shall provide the following during the Notice Period:
 - a. pay the Employee's vacation entitlement accrued up to the date of termination and through the minimum notice period prescribed by the ESA;
 - b. continue the Employee's health and insurance benefits coverage for the length of the Notice Period insofar as such benefits may be continued under the contractual arrangements between the Employer and its insurance carriers;
 - c. continue payment for the Employer's portion of HOOPP contributions; however, the Employee shall remain responsible for any employee contributions during the Notice Period and the Employer shall withhold and remit the Employee portion of any contributions necessary to continue the benefits and pension during the Notice Period.

- (iii) Notwithstanding paragraphs (i) and (ii), the Employer may at its sole discretion pay to the Employee at the time of termination, or at any time after the notice of termination has been issued, a lump sum payment equivalent to the total of:
 - a. salary and incentive compensation (if any) for the unexpired portion of the Notice Period;

- b. any remaining entitlement to vacation pay accrued up to the date of termination and through the minimum notice period prescribed by the ESA;
- c. the cost to the Employer of continuation of the Employee's health and insurance benefits for the unexpired portion of the Notice Period provided that benefits will not be discontinued prior to the end of the minimum ESA notice period;
- d. the cost to the Employer of payment of the Employer's portion of the pension contributions for the unexpired portion of the Notice Period provided that the pension contributions will not be discontinued prior to the end of the minimum ESA notice period.

(iv) The Employee hereby acknowledges that the payments in paragraph (i) and (ii) or (iii) are inclusive of and in complete satisfaction of any notice, pay in lieu of notice, and severance pay to which the Employee may be entitled at common law or under the ESA. In the event that the Employee is entitled to a greater entitlement under the ESA, that greater entitlement shall prevail and the Employee's entitlements shall be increased only to the extent necessary to satisfy such greater entitlement.

(v) The Employee agrees to execute a full and final release and indemnity in exchange for the payments provided for herein which exceed the Employee's minimum entitlements under the ESA.

c) Termination by the Employee

This Agreement and the employment of the Employee hereunder may be terminated at any time by the Employee giving to the Employer ninety (90) calendar days' notice of resignation in writing. Upon receipt of such notice, the Employer, in its sole discretion, may, by notice in writing, waive the notice of resignation period in whole or in part by specifying an earlier termination date; however, in such an event, the Employee shall be paid the outstanding portion of annual salary for such waived period. All other entitlements, including coverage under the Employer's health and insurance plans and pension plan participation, shall cease as of the earlier termination date, except as required by the ESA.

d) Termination by Mutual Agreement

This Agreement and the employment of the Employee hereunder may be terminated by mutual agreement of the parties hereto in writing, in which event the Employee shall continue to accrue and receive the Employee's annual salary and benefits through to the date of termination specified in such mutual agreement.

e) Termination by Death

9. LAYOFF, SUSPENSION

The Employee may be subject to periods of temporary layoff administered in accordance with the ESA. If the Employee is subject to any investigation into any disciplinary or other matter or procedure, the Employer may suspend the Employee from the performance of duties set out in this Agreement, with or without pay to the extent permitted by law.

- b) Upon termination of this Agreement, the Employee shall immediately return to the Employer any and all of the foregoing property and shall return to the Employer any other property which has been leased or rented by the Employer for use by the Employee.

In the event that any provision herein or part thereof shall be deemed void, invalid, illegal or unenforceable by a court or other lawful authority of competent jurisdiction, this Agreement shall continue in force with respect to the remaining provisions and all rights accrued under the remaining provisions shall survive any such declaration, and any invalid, illegal or unenforceable provision shall, to the extent permitted by law, be replaced by a provision which, being valid, comes closest to the intention underlying the invalid, illegal or unenforceable provision. All covenants, provisions and restrictions in this agreement shall be interpreted in accordance with the ESA, and if a greater entitlement is provided for under the ESA than as set out in any covenant, provision or restriction of this agreement, that greater entitlement shall prevail, the Employee's entitlements shall be increased only to the extent necessary to satisfy such greater entitlement, and the Employer will provide such greater entitlement.

14. GOVERNING LAW

This Agreement shall be construed in accordance with the law of the Province of Ontario and the federal laws of Canada applicable therein.

15. NO WAIVER

The failure of either party at any time to require performance by the other party of any provision hereof shall in no way affect the full right to require such performance at any time thereafter, nor shall a waiver by either party of the breach of any provision hereof be taken or held to be a waiver of any succeeding breach of such provision or as a waiver of the provision itself.

16. ENUREMENT

The Employee may not assign, pledge or encumber the Employee's interest in this Agreement nor assign any of the rights or duties of the Employee under this Agreement without prior written consent of the Employer. This Agreement shall be binding on and inure to the benefit of the successors and assigns of the
